HARVEST WILL BE GENERAL IN ALBERTA THIS WEEK

Barley and Wheat Cutting Already Begun in Many Sections.
Magnificent Weather to Mature the Bumper Crop.

Barley and wheat harvest began in many sections of Alberta last week and toward the close of this week will be general throughout the province. Reports from all sections are uniformly gratifying and grains of all kinds promise a yield at least the average while the increased acreage will make the total harvest all previous records. The growth of straw is generally sufficient, but not excessive and damage from lodging will be the minimum. Cuts are advancing rapidly, fields in the neighborhood of the city already growing lighter in color and the cut harvest will follow closely on the cutting of the earlier grains. Weather conditions continue perfect and with a month of such weather the grain crop should be pretty well cared for. Haying has been general for several days and will probably be practically completed by the end of the week.

The following report has been given out by the C. P. R. with regard to crop conditions on the western division for the week ending July 31st. Cattle—Crops in good shape, growing well. Rain needed.

Maple Creek—Crop conditions generally unsatisfactory on account of hot winds and lack of rain. Gleichen—Weather warm and dry. Oats headed out and haying in progress.

Aldrie—Weather warm with several showers. Grain heading out nicely, haying in progress. Stirling for fall wheat begins this week.

Crowsfoot—Crops headed out and in good condition. Heavy yield expected.

Carleton—Weather warm and dry. All grain headed out and good crop expected.

Didsbury—Weather very warm and dry. All crops in excellent shape, no damage reported.

Olds—Weather perfect, crops could not be in better condition; no damage.

Bowden—Weather warm and dry. All grains headed out and beginning to turn color. With warm weather harvest should begin in two weeks.

Imperial—Crops in very best condition. Farmers expect to commence cutting barley next week.

Penhold—Weather warm and about three hours rain. Crops in fine condition, all headed out and the harvest for years.

Ber Dier—Weather warm with about ten hours rain, crops looking well, and prospects bright.

Blackfald—Weather favorable and crops in good condition.

Lacombe—Weather favorable with several local showers during the week. Harvesting expected to commence within two weeks. Crops all in good condition.

Ponoka—Weather dry and warm. Grain all headed out. Barley and winter wheat turning color. Prospects excellent.

Wetaskiwin—Weather warm and showery and all crops in good condition.

Lethbridge—Weather warm with several local showers. Farmers expect cutting to commence about August 15.

Strathcona—Prospects for early harvest good and all crops looking fine. Camrose—Heavy rains during the week. All crops in first-class condition. No damage reported.

Bawlf—Weather warm and showery and all crops in best of condition. Barley harvest will commence by the end of the week. Outlook very promising.

Dayland—Weather very favorable. All grains ripening rapidly. Some barley has been cut, head well filled, and heavy average.

Alx—Weather warm and dry, but a heavy rain fell on the 1st and 2nd. Crops ripening very fast, and some barley will be cut during the coming week. All grain in first-class condition. Light fall of hail in some places, but no damage reported.

Stettler—Weather warm and dry. Harvest will be general. Crops well headed out and looking fine.

Otokota—Weather favorable. Some of the early varieties of barley will be ready for cutting in a few days if weather continues warm.

High River—Weather favorable, all crops in good condition. Barley beginning to ripen.

Nanton—Warm weather with about ten hours rain. All grain headed out and doing well. Fall wheat will be ready to cut next week.

Staveland—Weather warm and dry. Light hail later on the west on the night of 29th, damage slight. Fall wheat cutting will begin in about a week, and will be general inside of three weeks. Outlook very bright.

Clareholm—Crops all in splendid condition. Farmers expect to start cutting inside of ten days.

Leaving—Weather favorable, and wheat all headed out. Harvest will begin in about three weeks.

ST. PETERSBURG STRIKE GROWS MORE SERIOUS

Helsingfors Strike Ended.—Six Hundred Mutineers Are Missing.—Dum-dum Bullets Used.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 4.—The situation here is growing more threatening hourly as the strike is growing and danger of violence increases. Shops are closed owing to the proprietors' fear of outbreaks. Strong patrols of policemen occupy the streets and troops are held ready. Strikers and policemen clashed at Sestroretsk station, eight policemen being killed. The fighting caused the greatest excitement.

Minor strikes occurred at Yaski, Ekaterinodar and elsewhere throughout the province.

The Nova districts are carefully patrolled and extra steamers with quick firing guns have been pressed into service. An attempt to organize a rail road strike failed.

Helsingfors, Aug. 4.—The general strike here which began during the mutiny at Sveaborg fortress, ended this morning. The Socialist portion of the strikers split in two as the moderates condemned Red Guards action in participating in the disorders.

At the time the mutineers surrendered 800 of them were taken prisoners and locked up. Over 600 are missing. Mutineers had only enough provisions to last half a day. During the fighting in Helsingfors Socialist Red Guards used dum-dum bullets against the soldiers.

Odessa, Aug. 4.—The breach blocks have been removed from all guns on the Black Sea fleet. The officers fear the men cannot be relied on.

IMMIGRANTS FOUGHT LIKE DEMONS ON DECKS OF SINKING VESSEL

The Sirrocco Went Down in the Mediterranean with Apalling Loss of Life.—Awful Scene Among Panic Stricken Passengers.

Madrid, Aug. 4.—The steamer Sirrocco, plying between Genoa, Italy, and Buenos Ayres, South America, was wrecked in the Mediterranean and of 930 emigrants on board nearly 400 were drowned. The captain was among the saved but committed suicide after getting ashore.

Scenes of horror attended the wrecking of the steamer. According to advices received here, the vessel with a full complement of emigrants was off the southern coast of Sicily when in the early morning the lost her course and in a heavy mist struck head on on the rocks at full speed. The bow crumpled and a great hole was ripped in the hull. The passengers commenced to rush for the small boats and in the stampede many were killed and maimed. The crew was unable to cope with the panic and finally joined in the mad battle for safety. Emigrants drew knives with which nearly all were supplied and fought like demons to obtain places in the life boats. Women and children were ignored, some of the former fighting like men, though the majority were hurled aside or trampled to death in the stampede.

Men stabbed one another in fearful hand to hand conflicts about the boats or fought bare-handed with the ferocity of animals. Of the women and children, a number were thrown overboard and left to drown. Other women threw their children into the water and jumped after them. The horrible strife on the decks lasted not more than a minute for within scarcely that period the ship sank. The last desperate deeds by the maddened passengers were committed as the vessel was heeling over. Within the minute which followed the ship's striking and preceding her sinking, many were killed outright.

Most of the small boats were lanchetted, jammed with passengers, and some few were picked up in the water. Numerous swimmers were beaten away from the life rafts or stabbed as they attempted climbing aboard. The already crowded boats fearing that they would be overloaded and swamped. Many were carried down with the Sirrocco as the tank, saving been below decks when the ship struck and having no time to reach the open. They were penned between decks like rats without a chance of escaping.

An aftermath came when two small fishing boats which approached the scene of the wreck were overloaded and swamped, both sinking with all hands, rescued and rescuers alike perishing.

London, Aug. 4.—The very latest reports of the disaster to the Italian steamer Sirrocco states that there were 930 persons on board and 545 have been saved. The others are still missing and are believed to have perished. Among the known drowned is Archbishop Susopetro, head of the Archdiocese of Rio Janeiro and one of the most prominent mentioned for elevation to Cardinalship soon. The coast is strewn with corpses for many miles and fishing craft are now engaged taking them ashore. The accident was caused by the captain heaving his vessel going ahead at full speed during a dense fog. When she struck the rocks the ship was so rapid that the boilers exploded. She was en route from Genoa to Barcelona, thence to Buenos Ayres. The actress and singer, Milnes, one of the best known Spanish actresses is among the drowned.

IMPROVING THE LINES.

The C.N.R. have been having considerable trouble with the E.Y. & P. road during the past few days. Seen today Mr. C. A. Templeman, yard master at the C.N.R. depot said, the company had done its very best in keeping the road bed in a passable condition, but the frequent heavy rains recently had made it exceedingly difficult to keep the track in order.

Last week the company had one hundred and ten men on the E.Y. & P. getting it into shape and say that by Sunday night not one car of freight was standing in the yards. The congested traffic has been entirely cleared.

Two gangs are at work today in the yards here placing ballast and lining up, while a construction gang are loading gravel, which is being taken about seven miles eastward on the main line where improvement work is underway.

PLANS OF THE LETHBRIDGE FARM

Calgary, Aug. 3. — Dr. William Saunders of Ottawa, government superintendent of experimental farms, is staying at the Alberta. He has just returned from Lethbridge, where he had been opening up the experimental farm in the course of an interview last night Dr. Saunders said:
"The Dominion Government has secured a half section of land at Lethbridge of which 30 acres are suitable for irrigation and the remainder is dry land which is not capable of irrigation. We shall experiment on both portions and compare results. Breaking has already begun and we hope to have 70 acres broken by the beginning of September. The superintendent, W. H. Fairfield is an expert in irrigation. After five years experience in Colorado he was appointed superintendent of the United States station at Laramie, Wyoming, a post which he held for five years. He is a Canadian."
"Forseeing the probable difficulty that the land would be broken too late to produce the best results next season, we rented 20 acres from an adjoining farm which was broken in June. Upon this we shall experiment with winter wheat and also try to discover what quantity of seed per acre produces the best crop. Also we shall lay out plots of grain, alfalfa and other fodder crops."
"In general we shall experiment with cereals and fodder crops of all kinds all varieties of fruit and tree planting, paying special attention to

WHY SOME MEN TAKE TO FARMING.

Writing in the Century Magazine, under the above heading, L. H. Bailey, director of the agricultural college at Cornell university gives results of investigations made among the students at the college as to why they intend farming as a life business. The article is interesting both as showing what the students do and do not know about farming and as pointing out some of both the advantages and disadvantages of the tiller of the soil.

Sixty-eight town-bred or city-bred students wrote that they intend to pursue farming as a business, and to this end had entered themselves in the college of agriculture.

Many of the respondents give more than one reason for desiring to follow agricultural work, and in the following list the figures represent the number of times that the various reasons were alleged:

The personal or subjective desires.
Desire to be out of doors and love of nature 25
Love of farm life 12
Naturally bent for farming 8
Love for growing things 6
Love for farm animals 4
Desire to change from city to country 1

What Farming Provides.

Farming is an independent occupation 18
It provides healthful life 17
There is money in farming 16
It is an interesting or fascinating occupation 18
Provides as many advantages as does the city 3
Farming broadens one's mind 3
A most agreeable way of making a living 2
Provides good home life for self and children 4
Farmer is never out of work 1
He is not subject to many ailments 1
Country people hold many things cheap because they do not have to pay for them 1 Farming requires and develops skill 1
There is time for study 1
Opportunity to understand nature 1
Great economic and social possibilities 1 Provides a cheap living 1
It is a noble work 1
It is a useful work 1
A means of uplifting the community 1
It is an active life 1
Not a hurried life 3
A natural life 3
A simple life 2
Wide opportunities offered by farm 23
Ideal place for home and rearing of children 20
Involves interesting social and economic problems 8
It is a pleasant and agreeable occupation and provides a happy life 17
It is instructive 6
State aid is making farming more attractive 5
Farmer's condition is better than the average city man's 6
A good education is essential 2
Opportunities for study 2
Best place for spiritual life and growth 4
Good social opportunities 4
Opportunity for individual work and initiative 3
Cheaper living than in the city 3
An honorable occupation 4
Has more knowledge of farming than of other occupations 5

One can see the fruits of his own labor 2
Provides a better life in old age 1
The life is not monotonous 1
Farmers have good food 1 Provides opportunity to acquire property 1 Farming provides both mental and physical work 4
It offers a variety of work 4
The work is useful; it affords good training; it is easy in winter 1 Along with these reasons (or desiring to remain on the farm, some of the respondents also mention disadvantages; but they regard these disadvantages as being over-balanced by other considerations. These disabilities are as follows:
No money in farming 4
Requires better health than the respondent has 4
Farming requires more capital than respondent possesses 3
Farm life is lonely 3
The work is hard 2
Farmer does not control prices 1
Small opportunities for development 1
No employment for women 1 Concluding the writer says:

"The point of view of all these various personal replies is most significant, and it is in bold contrast to the general run of the responses of those who plan to leave the farm. The present replies are marked by the prominence given to ideals and by the subordination of mere personal enjoyment and desire for money. Forty per cent. of those who are leaving the farm allege that they do so because there is money enough in it; very few of the 261 students who plan to be farmers mention the expectation of earning money as the leading motive, and a number of them mention the relatively small earning power, and then declare that they will follow the business in spite of the banishment. Now, every one of them gives higher ideals of living as the propelling motive, and these ideals crystallize about two foci—the love of nature, and the desire of a free, independent life. Moreover, these are responses of strong conviction. They evidence pride of calling, and not one of them is apologetic, ward look. They are surprisingly unselfish. Not one of them asks for power. They show that even in this epoch of hurried city-building, the love of the open country and of plain, quiet living still remains as a real and vital force. I was impressed, in the replies of those who are to leave the farm, with the emphasis placed on lack of money, hard work, and small social opportunity; I am impressed in these replies with the recurrence of such ideals as love for the work that one is doing, education, study, personal influence, happiness, service, home. With these young men, their business is to be an affair of the heart. We hear much about the greed of money and power and the great dangers that threaten our runaway society; but I wonder whether, in the end, the countryman will not still have hold of at least one of the reins."

A BUSY FAMILY.

Dr. Booker T. Washington, in need of relaxation from the cares of the administration of Tuskegee Institute, used to love an old-fashioned game of marbles with his two sons, who are grown up now. Dr. Washington has three children. The eldest is Portia, who is a teacher at the school of which her father is the head. She is a graduate of the Normal School at Farmington, Mass., and is especially skilled in instrumental music. Each of the boys spends every other day in the fields at work. Booker T., the elder, is in the executive department of the school, while Ernest Davidson is an assistant to the resident physician. Dr. Washington is intensely fond of family life, and his keenest regret is that he can spend only six or seven months at home each year. His happiest moments are when he can pass an evening at home, surrounded by his family, telling stories or listening to some one read.

All three children went through the Tuskegee Institute, and learned a trade. Booker T., for instance, learned the trade of a brick mason and worked at it. His first wife, who died in 1884, died which occurred when Booker was about fifteen years old. Dr. Washington ton was going away for the summer and told Booker that he must spend half of each day at bricklaying and could do whatever he liked with the rest of the day. Within a fortnight Booker wrote his father that he wanted to work all day at his trade. Booker expects to become an architect and builder, and Davidson a physician.

Booker T. Washington gave his children entirely different surroundings in their childhood from those he himself had. They were born at Tuskegee and reared in the enlightened educational and patriotic atmosphere for which their father had made that tiny corner of the "Alabama black belt" famous. The father was born a slave, never knew who his father was, was brought up in a one-room quarter-house with a dirt floor and a "potato hole" in the middle of the room, where sweet potatoes were stored in the winter months. After the war his mother took him nine months a year to the salt furnaces and he went three months to school. He secured work in the house of a kind New England woman, who helped to teach him, and who paid him $6 a month until he went to the Hampton Institute, in 1871.

Dr. Washington has been married three times. His first wife was Miss Fannie N. Smith, whom he married in 1882, and who died in 1884. She was a graduate of Hampton Institute, and the wedding took place at the end of the first year's work at Tuskegee. The young couple provided a home for the four teachers which the school, which now has 150 instructors and helpers, then boasted.

In 1885, Dr. Washington married Miss Olivia Davidson, one of the teachers at the school. She went herself out assisting in the work at the school, and died in 1889. In 1893 he married Miss Margaret J. Murray, graduate of Fisk University and woman principal at Tuskegee. The present Mrs. Washington carries on an enormous amount of work in and out of the school, and is chairman of the executive committee of the National Federation of Colored Women's club. Dr. Washington's daughter was born to his first wife, and his two sons to the second Mrs. Washington.

Strathcona Plaindealer:—The advance statement of the census commissioner sent out this week regarding the population of most of the town and cities of Alberta makes interesting reading. The figures are a disappointment to almost every town in the list, for people have been counting themselves and everybody else twice in their anxiety to live in populous centres. No keener disappointment is felt any place than in Calgary. The press of that city had been booming the population till they actually believed and recently told their admiring readers that there 22,000 people in the city. To find that the true figures are 11,000 odd must indeed be humiliating. In fact the people of Calgary are highly indignant and propose to have a private census made to correct the very bad impression that has been given by the official census.

Edmonton is a little disappointed also, but with a merry twinkle in her eye, huge detached Strathcona to her breast and says, "we number 14,461."

Strathcona has the honor of holding third place in the province in point of population, and the rate of increase has never been greater than it has been during the last year. In October last under authority from the town council, The Plaindealer took a census of the town and found 2,459 souls. In nine months there has been an increase of about 20 per cent. Certainly citizens of Strathcona have no reason to complain in the light of such rapid and healthful increase of population.

The baby city, Wetaskiwin, is found to possess only 1,654 inhabitants and Red Deer a little over 1,429. We're all been overestimating our own greatness and the reckoning will have sobering and restraining effect on our imaginations. The enumerators have been local people as anxious as any people to count all the heads and make a good showing for their towns so we may rest assured that even in Calgary few names have been missed.

WATCH US GROW!

The census returns made public a few days ago gave a good idea of the growth of this city during the past half-decade. From .. 2626 in 1901 to 11,534 in 1906.

is a record of which we have no reason to be ashamed. Here's another indication just as reliable and it tells the same tale. Previous to 1905 no record was kept of the amount of building being done in the city. Last year and this year permits have had to be taken out and while these may not show all the building being done they show enough to be a fair gauge of the progress of the city. In 1905 the building permits totalled $718,000.00.

UP TO AUG. 3, THIS YEAR building permits had reached the grand total of $1,035,675, with a strong possibility that this will reach the $2,000,000 mark before December 31st. Show us a city on the American continent with a population of 11,500, with such a building record.

SHARE IN THE GROWTH.

What does this mean to the man who has a smaller or larger amount of money to invest? If it means anything it means that the increase in value has not at all ceased, but that there is every probability that values will increase just as rapidly for some time as they have done in the past. The man who invests now invests in a sure thing and cannot fail to reap a rich reward. The City is growing West rapidly—prices are steadily increasing in that direction—buying there is absolutely safe. Undoubtedly the very finest suburban property in the West is

ANACORTES PLAYED TIE

Saturday night's contest between the touring Anacortes nine and the local aggregation was devoid of any spectacular or sensational feature, but was an interesting struggle to the eight hundred spectators who witnessed it. Umpire Garretson called the game at the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness, each team having scored three runs.

It was a pitching duel between Yeazell and McGinnis, the local pitcher had more than a share in his opponent. The tourists secured more hits off Yeazell's delivery, but he kept them well scattered. He was far steadier than McGinnis, not dispensing a charity, while the latter handed out five over the free transportation route and two via the hit-by-pitcher line to the first stool. The teams fielded their positions superbly and handled all the bunts cleverly. Sullivan at third captured a couple of line drives, and in the eighth inning Reeves of the tourists tore off a fast stunt in the left garden, capturing a line drive on the dead run in just off his shoe lace, robbing Sullivan of a hit.

The visitors went first to bat. Whittemore and White expired on outfield outs. Spiedel drove one which soared over Howard's head in the right pasture, but Adams ended any trouble by taking care of Kayson's fly to centre.

Things looked rosy for the local bats in their half of the first stanza. Gleason received transportation to the first cushion, was advanced to second on Adams' sacrifice. Sullivan popped out. Hodge was fanned. Settle made the loyal congregation in the stand and bleachers extremely happy by smashing the first ball served up by McGinnis to left centre for a pretty two spot, sending Gleason and Hodge tin-canning home with the first two tallies.

The visitors secured their first tally in the third. Kinnear drove one between second and short, stole second and rubbered in on Whittemore's single. White died at first. Spiedel laid down a nice sacrifice, which advanced Whittemore to stool number two, but Settle took care of Kayson's grounder permitting the bachelors to enjoy their peanuts and popcorn with a little more ease.

The tourists added another in the sixth. Yeazell was too much for Kinnear's first man up, who cut aperature in the atmosphere. White singled and reached the third sack on Adams' muff off Spiedel's willow, crossing the rubber, while Dobson was fumbling with the pill which Kayson grounded down the carpet to him. Things looked dangerous with a duet of tourists occupying the stools, but Sullivan ended any agony by taking care of Black's pop.

The visitors secured their last tally in the eighth chapter and it was practically a gift. After two were gone McGinnis, who had fanned already three times, giving the fans the impression that he could not hit a push ball with a tennis racket, with two strikes on him caused some apoplexy and hemorrhages, among the rooters, by tearing off a slider to deep centre, and the return found him perched at number two station. Reeves, next man up sent a spiral which either Adams or Gleason could have got but they stopped and the sphere fell between them, allowing twirler McGinnis to romp in. Reeves got too frisky, running too far off the initial sack and was easily tagged by Settle.

The Capitals by poor work on the bases lost an opportunity to score in the third. Adams received a free ticket. Sullivan's bunt was tossed to the right garden, Adams reaching the third cushion where he should have been held, and was easily nailed at the plate on Black's throw. Sullivan on the play landed on third where he went to sleep, and while in a somnambulistic state, wandered off the stool, and Kayson, who had hid the ball easily tagged the local man. Hodge next man up, struck out.

The Pets' third counter was secured in the fifth. Howard opened with a hit to centre, was advanced a peg on Yeazell's sacrifice, and pranced across the pan on Gleason's two spot along the line. With a man on second Adams and Sullivan committed suicide.

The locals made a brave attempt to break the tie in their half of the last stanza. Dobson first man up, was patient and was rewarded with a ticket to the first stool. He moved up a notch on Deaton's sacrifice. Howard's pop was taken care of by White, and with two down Yeazell, last man up, made heroic efforts to connect with one of McGinnis' benders, and incidentally win his own game, but great darkness began to cover the people, and he passed quietly and peacefully away on strikes.

Why everybody likes Abbey's Salt.

It is so pleasant to the taste that even children take it with pleasure.
 It does not "cake" or flake on top of the water.

It effervesces slowly—may be drunk leisurely, without choking or blinding the user like sedlitz powders.

The granules all dissolve—thus the full benefit of the salt is obtained with every dose.
 It is the ideal laxative and tonic to purify the blood
 —regulate stomach,
 liver, kidneys and
 bowels—and build up
 the system.

GOLD FIELDS OF THE PRAIRIES

A striking contrast in industrial and agricultural development is afforded by the new provinces of Canada which lie to the east of the Rocky Mountains and the great and potentially wealthy province of British Columbia.

While British Columbia is still in the youth of its development, the western provinces, more difficult of access though they were until a recent period, have developed at a rate which almost defies computation. The probable reason is to be found in the wealth of precious minerals which lies hidden in the folds of the Columbian mountains, wealth which drew the province adventurers to mine gold-fields of farmers to harvest bank bills.

Fruit farming and dairying in British Columbia is a recent thing.

In the old days most of the inhabitants of the Pacific provinces were prospectors, even those of whom was in his own imaginings a prospective millionaire, and to plant apple trees, herd cows or till the soil was to him a foolishness. For this reason he continued a prospective millionaire until the end of his days while he might have been planting fruit trees which later would have brought him $500 or $800 gross profit per acre per annum.

At the present time it appears that the cultivation of the soil will bring more wealth eventually to the province than its inexhaustible mines of gold and silver.

Manitoba and the comestantane provinces have never been checked by the alluring yellow metal in creek bottom and on hillside, and today these provinces promise more wealth to their inhabitants than passes the realms of avarice.

The gold of Manitoba and the Western provinces is today waving three feet above the level of the prairies, and within a few weeks will be securely stored in a thousand elevators from coast to coast. At this golden harvest represents in millions of dollars surpasses the extravagant riches of the Orient.

The premier of Manitoba, the Hon.
 P. P. Roblin stated the other day that the crop of wheat this year will be 100,000,000 of bushels. If Providence sends nothing to mar the continued maturing of the grain. Not all, but practically all this wheat will be farmers formed into hard cash and wheat bank bills which will fall in showers upon Western Canada from the great million centres of New York, Montreal, London, Berlin and a dozen other banking cities of the old world.

One hundred million bushels at 75c the bushel represents $75,000,000—an elementary education of $75,000,000 in cash or its equivalent gross profits will come to the farmers of Western Canada by their wheat alone.

British Columbia with all its wealth of minerals, in 1905 received but $22, 000,000 for the metals torn from its reefs, river bottoms, seams and lodes.
 This sum includes every metal found in British Columbia from gold to coal.
 The proportion between the bushel-age of wheat and other grains is guaranteed from year to year with more or less accuracy.

In a recent year the proportion was wheat, sixty-seven million bushels;
 oats, forty-five millions of bushels;
 barley, twelve million and potatoes four and a half million bushels. If same proportions are kept this year, the production of cereals will be oats, sixty-seven millions of bushels, and barley eighteen millions; potatoes will be six and three-quarter millions.

Sixty-seven millions of oats at 32c is about $21,500,000, eighteen millions of barley at 30c is $5,400,000, and six and three-quarter millions of potatoes at 33 cents is $2,500,000.

Thus, the total cereal and potato wealth which may reasonably be in the western provinces at the present time is—
 Wheat $21,500,000
 Oats 5,400,000
 Barley 2,200,000
 Potatoes 2,500,000
 Total $29,600,000

This total wealth will be considerably augmented by the products of the cattle rancher and dairymen. In Manitoba alone in the year 1904 the dairy produce was valued at $768,500.
 This year it will probably have increased to one million dollars. Cattle exportation will bring in more wealth though the far western provinces will benefit more by the sale of live stock than Manitoba.

"REFORM OF EGYPT"

To Lord Cromer, his Britannic Majesty's Agent, the Reformer of Egypt.

It is well known to you, that the telegrams and newspapers appear each day, bringing nearer to us, as it seems, the likelihood of greater differences between England and the Empire on matters relating to our land of Egypt. But as the hopes of men for things desired are often disappointed, so also for God is merited by his creatures—their faith of and come to naught. As you say the Almighty that it may be so now.

I who write these lines in the name of "All the People of Egypt," am not a statesman or a man of great name;
 my person and my dwelling are alike unknown to you, but I feel constrained, inasmuch as I see many foolish acts committed, and hear many fol-ish words spoken, to stand on my feet and say the truth, as I think God has put it into my heart.

It is often said by those who have thought thereby to make favor with the great, "The Curse of God upon the Christian"; "May hell consume the infidel"; his household, and his possessions. These are the words of the curse, and the curses lie in wait for the driver who smites him unjustly. At the head of the letter I call you by the name of "The Reformer of Egypt," and by this name you are known to the seas and the deserts; also many, but not all of the English who serve under you have followed in your footsteps as wise children carry on the traditions of their fathers.

He may be blind who sees not what the English have wrought in Egypt; the gates of justice stand open to the poor; the streams flow through the land, and are not stopped at the order of the strong; the poor man is lifted up and the rich man pulled down;
 the hand of the oppressor and the tribler is struck when out-stretched to do evil. Our eyes see these things, and we know from whom they come.
 You will say, "I am a faithful, old man of Egypt, and I see these things which you say, and I am very old, and I have seen many of our fathers who were of a free mind and are not ruled by flattery and guile—are thankful. But thanks lie on the surface of the heart, and beneath is a deep well. While peace is in the land the spirit of Islam sleeps. We have the Imam cry out in the mosque against the unbelievers but his words are not heard by the people. Children hear them for the first time, and do not understand them; old men have heard them from childhood, and say no heed."

But I repeat, "There is, war between England and the Arab-Hamid Khedive. If that be so, a change must come. The words of the Imam are echoed in every house, and every Moslem has his hand on the sword of the Faith. As men we do not love the sons of English; the children at the breast know their words, and that they have trodden down the Egyptians like dry reeds. But as Moslems they are our brethren, the Khedive holds the sacred places and the noble relics."

Though the Khedive be helpless as a weaver, as a man, or mad as Ibrahim, he is the shadow of God, and every Moslem must kneel up at the call as the willing servant to his master, though the wolf may devour his child while he does his master's work. The call of the Sultan is the call of the Faith it carries with it the command of the prophet, (blessings, and etc.).
 I and many more trust that all may yet be peace; but, if he war, he sure that he will have a sword will draw it, he who has a club will strike with it.
 The women will cry from the housetops, "God give victory to Islam!"

You will say, "The Egyptian is more grateful to a dog, which remembers the hand that fed him. He is foolish as the fool who pulls down the roof-tree of his house upon himself." It may be so, worldly eyes, but in the time of danger to Islam the Moslem turns away from the things of this world, and thirsts only for the service of his Faith, even though he looks to the end of each day, May God (His Name be glorified) avert the evil!

Signed by one, in the name of the people of Egypt.

Cairo, May 10.

The frame of mind indicated above, continues Lord Cromer, constitutes an important factor in the Egyptian situation. The Egyptian opposition had resorted to an appeal to religious fanaticism by means of the Pan-Islamic Press, which creates, by every process of misrepresentation, opinions which would otherwise be non-existent. He does not suggest repression unless extreme cases arise, believing that the government is strong enough to stand on its own merits. But he says:

The conclusion to be drawn from recent events is clear. A permanent increase will have to take place in the numbers of the British garrison.

AMONG THE RUSSIAN SOLDIERS

The German military attaché at St.
 Petersburg has given a pretty picture of military conditions in Russia.

"Although the high officers of the army seem to have forgotten the disgrace of the last war with Japan," he says, "the masses of people and the private soldiers have not, and the army has lost all confidence in the government, which it believes capable of all sorts of crimes."

Even the ultra-conservative Russian paper, Novoye Vremya, said in an editorial the other day:

"We have been informed by a very high military officer that we may expect a military revolution within one or two months. All Russia is revolutionary at present, no way shows the army be otherwise? Even the officers, outside of the guard regiment, belong to a great revolutionary organization. But one thing is certain, the outbreak of a military revolution, and that is a complete and thorough army reform which must begin with the very highest military officials. As long as a soldier feels that everything remains unchanged among the high officers he will continue to be dissatisfied for the time has passed when the Russian soldier was a mere unthinking unit, and he now feels very bitter when he sees that the generals, whom he knows to be responsible for his sufferings and defeat during the recent war, are decorated with high orders. If the army—and that means the Russian empire—is to be saved, the czar must begin a radical cleaning out of the corrupt officials of the war department, and he must summarily discharge a number of his generals, but if he does not do it without delay, he might as well not try."

Count Leo Tolstoy like Thomas W.
 Lawson, of Boston, has announced that he has a ray which will bring an end to all the present disturbances in Russia.

Interviewed the other day by a Russian journalist he said:

"I do not think the situation is as serious as some newspapers want to make us believe. There is a great deal of unrest through the Empire, but that would easily disappear if we had the right remedy."

The first thing we must do is to try to reconcile the many oppositions which are now deadly en-mies of one another. No one seems to have taken hold of this beautiful task, but instead of that, everybody is talking politics. I do not object to people taking an interest in politics, but it is absolutely wrong to make politics the chief aim of one's life. The whole world is open to us the glorious world of love, of truth and of doing good. One must choose his task in life and try to make others do the same thing. But no one will listen to this—no one the newspapers and the doings of the Duma."

The old regime question will only takes any interest in anything but other ridiculous institutions, it will have been granted an equal right to the ownership of all land. When I speak of this solution of the question I do not do so from a socialistic standpoint of the government.

The old regime is impossible, but the new one with its Dumas and other ridiculous institutions, is still more impossible. The Russian people resemble just now the hero of old who stood on the crossroads and who waited him no matter which road he took. But there is another way out. What this way is, I shall very soon make clear in a book which I am now working on."

It was not possible to make the famous philosopher and writer say anything about the remedy which he had found, beyond the smiling assurance that one might call it peace-anism."

SEMI-READY WARDROBE

The One Right Steel Plate Range

Until we found out just the right way to use asbestos to keep the heat in a cooking range where it must cook the food instead of cooking the cook, every steel-plate range kept the kitchen broiling-hot. This range is a cool range—the top shield and lining is thick asbestos, so the heat stays inside the range and keeps even evenly hot. Food is better cooked, quicker cooked and cooked for less fuel-cost.

For Cleanly Cookery

BURNS WOOD OR COAL

Everything about it is cleanly—empty the ash-pit without fluffing ashes over everything; feed-pouch takes fuel without clutter and muss. Fuel does more cooking because this range has the right draft-control—sensitive, easily-governed—bring a fire up quick, cool it down quick.

COD FISHERY OF NEWFOUNDLAND

Perils which are Bravely Endured
In Gaining a Living from the Sea.

St. John's, Nfld., July 21.—Of the several branches into which the cod fishery of the Newfoundlanders is divided that prosecuted along the rugged coast of Labrador each summer is the most perilous and tollsome, and its annual record of disaster and death hardship and tragedy, is depressing in the extreme. This fishery is the chief pursuit of the settlers along the east and north shores of the island, and its success or failure means comfort or destitution for them. Its importance can be best judged by the fact that the entire families proceed to the desolate seaboard, the men and boys to catch and handle the fish and the women, girls and young children to engage in the different processes incident to drying and curing. A visit to the little hamlets of the Newfoundland coast in summer shows nearly every house unoccupied the owners having gone to Labrador for the cod fishery, in which annual migration some twenty thousand people, with their goods and poultry, household goods and portable possessions, engage every season. The rest of their belongings remain safe from disturbance, as the island laws visit with exemplary severity the thefts of any property from such homes, the stealing of fish off the drying plant where it is left at night and the deserting by any men of the fishery service in which they are engaged.

The magnitude of the perils which beset the fisherfolk as they sail over in spring or return in the fall can be best realized by the occurrences of the present season. On June 15 a furious gale swept the Newfoundland coast, and spread ruin amid the scores of smacks then bound to the northern trawling grounds. Some were lost with all hands, others were driven ashore, with more or less loss of life; more were damaged, and their endangered crews rescued from the sinking hulls at great risk to the rescuers, while the great majority, though they got into harbors had temporarily to abandon their crafts and take refuge on shore until the storm abated, lest some schooner break loose and work havoc with the whole flotilla and their crews.

In numerous cases these vessels carry passengers, fisherfolk who own no craft themselves, and from fifty to one hundred and fifty persons are often on board a single smack. Disasters of this kind on the coast are not infrequently the result of a single vessel being driven ashore, and the whole flotilla and their crews. In numerous cases these vessels carry passengers, fisherfolk who own no craft themselves, and from fifty to one hundred and fifty persons are often on board a single smack. Disasters of this kind on the coast are not infrequently the result of a single vessel being driven ashore, and the whole flotilla and their crews.

The blinding fogs and robust gales cause many losses, and last year the schooner Puritan ran on Cabot Island at mid-night, with fifty-three persons aboard ten of whom perished, while the others were marooned there for two weeks sheltered under a tent covered from a sail washed ashore, and subsisting on sea birds eggs and shellfish, until sighted by a belated trawler, which took them off. The schooner Ozar met a like fate on Groza Island and lost thirteen persons her survivors suffering terribly from exposure and hunger for five days until their distress signals were sighted and relief came. The present season the Ocean Queen went to pieces on Cann Island and her twenty-five people were rescued by the lighthouse keeper from the nearest station, alone in his boat just before the sea submerged the rock to which they clung. Some years ago another Queen was lost on Guil Island and every soul perished of starvation there, the bodies not being found till months later, when a diary written by one of the unfortunates revealed the pitiful details of their tragic fate. Three years ago the Vigilant, a large schooner with 140 persons on her collapsed on a reef near Makovick and twenty-three perished, the remainder being rescued by other crews which lowered ropes from the hilltop and drew them up one by one, the castaways having then to row 160 miles in open boats to reach the mainland that would convey them to their homes. Five years previously the Water Witch stranded near Holton, and her thirty-four people were rescued by one gallant mariner, the last being brought ashore—a woman previously forgotten by her friends—dying in his arms on the way.

The Labrador coast stretches a full five hundred miles north from Bell Isle Strait to Hudson's Bay, and contains nearly 3,500 permanent white residents, who inhabit its shores as well as many more Christianized Eskimoes or its northern coast and a similar number of Indians in the interior have for the annual migration of the Newfoundland fisherfolk there, the region would attract little or no attention, but this peculiar movement to and fro of thousands of people every year makes it of considerable interest which Dr. Grenfell's self-sacrificing labors in behalf of the betterment of the people who frequent that desolate seaboard tend to increase. The coast is broken up into countless harbors and inlets, every one of which is the objective of some daring Newfoundlanders, who establish themselves and their families there, in huts built from the wreckage of fishing crafts and hatched high with turf, and here these people remain from June till October engaged in a most exhausting occupation and subjected to discomforts and miseries which none could hope to contend against except those whose whole existence is an unceasing battle with the elements.
